NEW SHAPES FROM Talopi Skate Co.

THE CUCARACHA-

-or the SQUEGG (square egg) as it's sometimes known is the functional hybrid shape you've been looking for but didn't know it.

There's something about looking down at your feet on an egg that can be more interesting and funner than the standard popsicle. It inspires a different approach to your skating and brings out a different feeling altogether.

Sometimes though the narrow rounded nose and tails of most eggs just isn't what the spot's looking for, so we kept the egg outline of the rails and widened and squared off the nose and tail for the best of both worlds.

The fun of an egg with the full footed confidence a wider nose and tail brings to the sesh. The Cucaracha.... make it a total infestation!

THE FREELOADER-

It's called the freeloader but it's definitely no couch potato, this baby likes to roam and can make itself at home anywhere.

With very similar dim's to The Strople (but slightly shorter WB) this is a plus size platform with the genetics of a racehorse, engineered like bulldozer and ready to rip through any and all terrain!

THE Yardbird

THE YARDBIRD-

We cannot lie- this board is directly inspired by the old Schmitt Stix Yardstick. My friend Mike Archimedes used to ride that board, no he RIPPED! that board, and there was a time in the mid to late 80's that a lot of people rode and RIPPED! longer boards (not 'longboards'). Arc, Jake, Curtis Hsaing and on and on.

It's an inherently more aggressive approach, it takes more effort and therefore you put more of your body into it and the results can be RADICAL!

The Yardbird was shaped with intention by San Francisco's own Mike Archimedes.
